SA State Election result

As South Australia transitions its Government from Steven Marshall's Liberal Party to Peter Malinauskas and his Labor team, the Property Council extends its congratulations and well wishes to both leaders.

South Australia's economy is in very good shape and its growth potential is powerful, which means incoming Peter Malinauskas, his Government and our state's business community should benefit from a 'fast start'.

We must keep focusing on attracting investment to South Australia, creating future jobs, and ensuring that Adelaide remains Australia's most liveable city.

The Property Council looks forward to working with Peter Malinauskas and relevant Ministers to ensure that property remains at the forefront of decision-making.

We also pay tribute to outgoing Premier Steven Marshall and extend our thanks to him for the way him and his team have worked with this industry over the past four years.
